Amtrak Suspend Acela Service

On March 16, 2017, Teresa Renner took this photo of an Acela train speeding past Seabrook, MD. Amtrak has announced it would temporarily suspend Acela service on the Northeast Corridor between Washington, DC, and Boston due to a significant reduction in demand for service as a result of coronavirus. Read about it in this High Green!

Next Meeting: Our next meeting planned for April 1 at the former B&O Railroad Station in Silver Spring is cancelled. Meetings will resume at a date yet to be determined.
